Lane Community College Foundation, $9,000

FY06 Cultural Development Grant: To support the building of the Lane Community College Native American Longhouse on the college's main campus in Eugene, Oregon. The longhouse will serve as a center for Native American learning, and will offer for display works of Native American arts and crafts. LCC has a greater number of self-identified Native American students than any other higher education institution in the state; the Longhouse will provide a culturally appropriate environment on campus for Native American culture and education.

Lane Community College Foundation, $10,000

FY07 Cultural Development Grant: To support relocation of a community-oriented public radio station KLCC to a spacious, accessible and multifunctional facility in downtown Eugene. Funds will be used for a remodel of a building and studios at 136 West 8th Avenue with state of the art equipment. Advanced digital technology will allow the station to reach a broader audience throughout the region.

Oregon Bach Festival, $8,000

FY06 Cultural Development Grant: To support the first year start-up costs of an audience survey to increase attendance and help develop future programming choices for the Oregon Bach Festival in Eugene, Oregon. The survey will help the Festival identify how to attract younger audiences, what the festival can do to enhance the concert going experience, and what possible changes in programming may be achieved that will bring in new audiences while maintaining the current subscriber base. Results of the survey will be shared with other classical music organizations around the state.
